THE SURFACE MOUNT SPECIALISTS

Established in 1987 Distributed Micro Technology has developed into a highly successful passive component distributor. Today we are as eager as ever to assist designers and manufacturers with new and existing designs and our design support team are sure to have a solution to the most complex systems and applications.

With the emphasis now on miniaturisation we can offer a wide range of micro package SMT products and we are able to cross refer many older larger case size components to one of the newer, smaller devices.

Working closely with our varied franchises and blue chip suppliers our applications engineers should be looked on as a resource to expand your company's field of knowledge.

Our extensive product portfolio and commitment to new technologies has established us as a true Surface Mount Specialist.
